SAN DIEGO – San Diego Jewish Academy (SDJA) and the Tanya and Charles Brandes Foundation are collaborating to provide what may be the largest commitment ever made for private school merit scholarships in San Diego. These two institutions are working in partnership to offer a 50-percent tuition scholarship at SDJA for as many as ten new, meritorious students for up to four years of study.

“Offering half off the yearly tuition to bright and accomplished students will enable those who are passionate about academics, the arts or leadership to receive the best possible general and Jewish education,” said SDJA Executive Director Larry Acheatel.

Ten Brandes scholars will be added each year until as many as 40 students receive annual scholarships. Thereafter, the Brandes Foundation will continue to fund up to 40 scholarships on an ongoing basis.

In making their gift, Tanya and Charles Brandes said, "We are honored to partner with San Diego Jewish Academy to recruit and retain exceptional students. With the skills and values learned, in an environment of academic excellence, these students will be prepared to become exceptional leaders in their communities and professions."

Serving children from kindergarten through 12th grade, San Diego Jewish Academy challenges students to achieve their full academic potential and become individuals of strong moral and ethical character, while inspiring them to make Judaism a vital and relevant aspect of their lives.

Students who are outstanding in academics, the arts or leadership should contact SDJA Admissions Director, Gabriela Stratton, to apply. For more information about the merit scholarships or about SDJA, please contact Gabriela at gstratton@sdja.com or 858-704-3716.
